

The Oxford
REAL Farming
Conference

Policy Opportunities for Agroecology

6th January 2012
Magdalen College, Oxford

A Strategy Discussion

*how to promote ecological and equitable models
of sustainable food production and consumption*

AGENDA

Welcome

Introduction: Patrick Mulvany – opportunities to promote ‘Ecological Food Provision’ in the framework of food sovereignty

Julia Wright: how to ‘Change Mindsets’ towards the benefits of ecological and equitable models of sustainable food production and consumption in the UK

Michel Pimbert: how to promote thinking about the ‘Transformation of the Food System’ at all levels so that it puts the realisation of food sovereignty at its heart

Geoff Tansey: why and how food is at the heart choosing our future world, who’ll dominate it, in part through the ‘New Enclosures’ facilitated by the extension to living systems of the global patent regime, etc

Discussion We will discuss and seek ideas about how to develop and occupy policy and communications spaces, identifying who will help achieve this.

Actions: for example, developing work in support of the APPG Agroecology.

Conclusions

europafrica
Towards Food Sovereignty

Policy Opportunities for Agroecology

6th January 2012
Magdalen College, Oxford

A Strategy Discussion

how to promote ecological and equitable models
of sustainable food production and consumption

The Oxford
REAL Farming
Conference

Policy Opportunities for Agroecology

6th January 2012
Magdalen College, Oxford

A Strategy Discussion

Contributions: patrickmulvany@clara.co.uk
Website: www.ukfg.org.uk/orfc2012